Net profit for the year recorded a strong 43.3% y-o-y increase to EGP 303.7 million in FY2018, yielding a net profit margin of 8.0% up from 7.0% in the previous year.

Top-line growth during the quarter and full year came on the back of both higher volumes and improved pricing as the company captured growing market demand with an optimized product mix. Edita was successful in extracting higher value from sales and delivering margin expansion down the income statement. This is particularly evident during 4Q2018 where Edita's gross profit margin expanded more than four percentage points to 35.8% and the company recorded a strong 20.5% EBITDA margin during the same period.

Edita's improving profitability is driven by its fast-recovering volumes to pre-devaluation levels yet at higher price points and with a better mix across its portfolio. Edita sold a total of 731.2 million packs in 4Q2018, up 5.9% y-o-y and close to the 786.1 million packs sold in 4Q2016. Meanwhile the company's average price point stood at EGP 1.48 in 4Q2018 compared to EGP 1.39 in 4Q2017 and up 41.9% versus 4Q2016. Edita's rusks and wafers segments together contributed a combined 25.1% to total revenue growth in FY2018, while the candy segment delivered a 1.2% contribution to growth for the year.

Croissant sales were up 38.1% y-o-y in FY2018 to EGP 1,236.1 million, constituting a 32.7% share of total revenues, with segment growth being driven by a 24.9% y-o-y increase in volumes to 741.0 million packs as well as a 10.6% increase in average price per pack. Higher croissant prices came as the company improved its price mix and implemented price increases such as upsizing its Mini Molto Hazelnut. Revenues from the cake segment were up 12.1% y-o-y to EGP 1,776.7 million and constituted the largest share of revenues at 47.0%. Cake growth was driven by a 14.1% y-o-y increase in total packs sold to 1,441.1 million in FY2018.

Meanwhile, growth during 4Q2018 was attributed more to improved pricing. This is particularly true at the croissant segment which posted a 16.2% y-o-y increase in average price per pack and contributed 41.8% to consolidated revenue growth during the quarter. Edita's rusks and wafers segments made a 25.9% and 20.3% contribution to 4Q2018 growth, respectively. Similarly, manufacturing overheads also declined to 10.9% of sales in 4Q2018 (EGP 118.4 million) compared to 11.5% in 4Q2017. On a quarterly basis SG&A was up 27.1% y-o-y to EGP 168.3 million and as a percentage of sales remained below average at 15.5%.

Meanwhile on quarterly basis, the sharp improvement in profitability saw EBITDA increase 18.7% y-o-y to EGP 222.6 million, and EBITDA margin break the 20% threshold for the first time since the devaluation of the Egyptian pound to record 20.5% in 4Q2018, up from 17.9% in 3Q2018.

Strategy Insight

Throughout 2018, Edita' strategy remained focused on driving volume growth through continued portfolio optimization and targeting optimum price-point segmentation down its distribution channels. Key efforts included product reconfigurations, indirect price increases as well as the launch of competitively priced products. In parallel, Edita also focused on cost minimization and efficiencies to support profitability.

Edita's strategic success is clearly reflected on its results, with continued double-digit revenue growth and with volumes and profitability fast approaching pre-devaluation levels. Meanwhile, a careful balance between value extraction and market competitiveness saw the company maintain its market leading position across its core segments. Through the implementation of its strategy and timely investments in future capacities, Edita is equipped with the necessary tools for continued value creation well into the future.

A key pillar of the company's forward-looking strategy is the utilization of the space afforded by its new E08 facility with the addition of new production lines to help meet growing market demand. The company is also exploring opportunities to leverage the strength of its distribution network and brand equity to venture into new market segments.

Edita also aims to continue driving export growth, which has reached 8.3% of total revenues in FY2018. In doing so, Edita will leverage its joint venture in Morocco where the company is laying the groundwork for its first overseas manufacturing facility. The new facility will serve as a springboard for increase penetration of North African countries in line with Edita's strategy to grow its footprint across fast-growing markets with large consumer bases and significant growth potential.
